About Duquesne University

Who we are today has a lot to do with who we were yesterday. Founded more than 135 years ago by the Congregation of the Holy Spirit, Duquesne was built on a core set of values that guides us even now.

As one of the nation’s top Catholic universities, our Spiritan tradition means a lot us. You’ll see it in the way we treat one another, in the way we learn and in how we view the world. We strive to provide a well-rounded education that will challenge you academically while nourishing your spiritual and ethical development.

Today, Duquesne is home to 9 schools of study and serves more than 10,000 students. We boast a 15:1 student-faculty ratio with 80 undergraduate programs; 85 master’s, doctoral and professional programs; and 22 post-graduate certificate programs.
We've spent the past 80 years serving as a pioneer in nursing education:

- First university in the nation to offer an online PhD in Nursing (1997)
- First university in Pennsylvania to grant a BSN degree (1937)
- First dual undergraduate degree in biomedical engineering and nursing
- One of the first forensic nursing programs in the country
- First to offer a one-of-a-kind PhD in Nursing Ethics program

Today, our school is recognized by the National League for Nursing as a Center of Excellence, and our degree programs are consistently ranked among the nation’s best by U.S. News & World Report.

Compassion and service are at the core of our nursing curriculum and remain a critical component in our approach to education. No matter where you are in your career, we have the experience and drive to ensure you grow as a person, care provider and nursing leader.
Accreditation and Affiliations

The BSN, MSN, DNP and Post-Master’s Certificate programs are accredited by the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education (CCNE), a specialized accrediting agency recognized by the U.S. Department of Education (USDE). The university is also a member of the American Association of Colleges of Nursing (AACN) and the National League for Nursing (NLN).

Duquesne University is accredited by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education (MSCHE). The MSCHE is an institutional accrediting agency recognized by the U.S. Secretary of Education and the Council for Higher Education Accreditation.

Fulfill Your Nursing Career Goals with Your MSN
The role of the advanced practice nurse is expanding, and qualified APNs are in great demand. If you have earned your BSN and are looking to take the next step in your nursing career, Duquesne University's online Master of Science in Nursing program offers three specializations to help give you the focus to accomplish your goals.

Which track is right for you?
- Family (Individual Across the Lifespan) Nurse Practitioner: Learn how to provide outstanding care to people across the lifespan. Study cutting-edge techniques in primary care, and prepare for AANPCP or AANC certification.
- Forensic Nursing: If you want to support patients in the forensics specialty, you can benefit from the specialized training our MSN in Forensic Nursing offers. Learn how to provide trauma-informed care in your community, understand the legal system and develop programs to advance this emerging field.
- Nursing Education and Faculty Role: Tomorrow's great nurses need a great education. You can help provide it. Our program focuses on theory and real-world application of the most effective techniques, trends and innovations in nursing education, preparing you to teach in the classroom, clinical arena and online.

Applicant Requirements
To qualify for our online MSN, you must meet the following prerequisites:
- Hold a BSN from an accredited college or university with a GPA of 3.0 or higher
- Have at least 1 year of full-time work experience as an RN (prior to registration in clinical or specialty courses)
- Hold a current, unencumbered RN license

Admission process:
- A completed graduate application
- Resume or curriculum vitae
- Goal statement (2 pages)
  - Reasons you're pursuing your MSN degree
  - Your professional plans and career goals
  - Why you wish to study at Duquesne
  - Any past experiences as it relates to advancing your career
  - Past achievements you've had in nursing (professional organization memberships or positions, awards, scholarships, nominations, certifications, committee/project work, scholarly publications, other accomplishments or abilities)
  - Any special circumstances applicable to your background and professional history
- Two professional reference letters
  (one academic, one professional in a supervisory role)
- Official transcript(s)
