About Duquesne University

Who we are today has a lot to do with who we were yesterday. Founded more than 135 years ago by the Congregation of the Holy Spirit, Duquesne was built on a core set of values that guides us even now.

As one of the nation's top Catholic universities, our Spiritan tradition means a lot us. You'll see it in the way we treat one another, the way we learn and how we view the world. We strive to provide a well-rounded education that will challenge you academically while nourishing your spiritual and ethical development.

Today, Duquesne is home to nine schools of study and serves 9,500 students. We boast a 15:1 student-faculty ratio with 80 undergraduate programs; 90 master's, doctoral and professional programs; and 22 postgraduate certificate programs.

About the Duquesne School of Nursing

We've spent the past 80 years serving as a pioneer in nursing education:

First university in the nation to offer an online PhD in Nursing

First university in Pennsylvania to grant a BSN degree

First dual undergraduate degree in biomedical engineering and nursing (2014)

One of the first forensic nursing programs in the country (2002)

First to offer a PhD in Nursing Ethics program (2017)

Today, our school is recognized by the National League for Nursing as a Center of Excellence, and our degree programs are consistently ranked among the nation's best by U.S. News & World Report.

Compassion and service are at the core of our nursing curriculum and remain a critical component in our approach to education. No matter where you are in your career, we have the experience and drive to ensure your growth as a person, care provider and nursing leader.

Accreditation and Affiliations

The MSN, DNP and Post-Master's Certificate programs are accredited by the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education (CCNE), a specialized accrediting agency recognized by the U.S. Department of Education (USDE). The university is also a member of the American Association of Colleges of Nursing (AACN) and the National League for Nursing (NLN).

Duquesne University is accredited by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education (MSCHE). The MSCHE is an institutional accrediting agency recognized by the U.S. Secretary of Education and the Council for Higher Education Accreditation.

Fulfill Your Nursing Career Goals with Your MSN

The role of the advanced practice nurse is expanding, and qualified APNs are in great demand. If you have earned your bachelor's degree and are looking to take the next step in your nursing career, Duquesne University's online Master of Science in Nursing program offers three specializations to help give you the focus to accomplish your goals.

Online Adult-Gerontology Acute Care Nurse Practitioner MSN Program (AGACNP)

Specialize your nursing knowledge to care for adults of all ages. Earning your MSN in adult-gerontology acute care will prepare you for national certification and licensure as an adult-gerontology acute care nurse practitioner and permit you to provide services ranging from disease prevention to critical care for individuals across the adult continuum.

To qualify for our online MSN program, you must:

- Hold a current, unencumbered RN license
- Hold a BSN from an accredited college or university with a 3.0 GPA or higher
- Have completed an undergraduate-level statistics course with a “C” or higher

Note: Must have at least one year of full-time work experience as an RN prior to registration in the clinical or specialty courses.

Admission Requirements

- A completed graduate application
- Resume or curriculum vitae
- Goal statement (2-3 pages)
 - Clearly articulate why you are pursuing the Adult-Gerontology Acute Care NP
 - Your professional plans and career goals
 - Why you wish to study at Duquesne
 - Past experiences as they relate to the Adult-Gerontology Acute Care NP and advancing your career
- Accomplishments you have had in nursing (professional organization membership or positions, awards, scholarships, nominations, certifications, committee/project work, scholarly publications, other achievements or abilities)
- Any special circumstances applicable to your background and professional history
- Two professional references (one academic and one professional in a supervisory role)
- Official transcript(s)
